MATHEMATICS

The 2015 CCC was another step forward into the future.

The Junior problem set was more in-line with the sets in previous years, and the right balance of challenging and accessible, with J5 being a slightly harder problem, but, in fact, it offered many opportunities for partial marks. As always, students who do well on the Junior are encouraged to strive for the Senior competition.

The Senior problem set had a much better distribution of scores, and was tiered into three levels of difficulty (S1 being easy; S2, S3 being medium; S4, S5 being difficulty). Many students had partial solutions to the last two questions.

The On-line CCC Grader was again a very huge success, thanks mostly to the hard work of Andy Kong (a former CCC, IOI and UW student, I might add) in getting the grader to use cloud-based systems to distribute the work much more efficiently. We had over 60000 submissions during the day of the contest (double from last yera), and the wait-time for responses for the system was never more than 1 minutes. We will continue to improve the On-line CCC Grader as we move toward an On-line only contest by 2017.

As one more plug, remember that if you would like to learn to use Python (which the CCC On-line Grader can accept), check out the CS Cirlces On-line Resource at:

`cscircles.cemc.uwaterloo.ca`

We continued the collaboration with Tsinghua University in Beijing and the University of Hong Kong to offer the contest to Beijing and Hong Kong high school students. This was the 11th year of collaboration with HKU, and it has been a rewarding experience for both UW and HKU. More information (including results) can be found at: <http://ccc.cs.tsinghua.edu.cn/> and <http://www.cs.hku.hk/ccc2015/>. As in previous years, the organizers from Tsinghua and HKU collaborated with UW to create a contest different than the Canadian CCC.

Below, a qualitative summary of both the Junior and Senior contest is presented.

I hope you found the contest this year interesting and educational, fun and intriguing. Thanks for being a part of it.
