Overall Comments

The FGH Contests are designed to give students in Grades 9, 10 and 11 an additional mathematical challenge during the school year, and one that requires full written solutions. Being able to do mathematics is an important skill; being able to communicate one's findings (in mathematics or in any other field) is also very important.

The averages on the Fryer, Galois and Hypatia Contests this year were 20.6, 22.8 and 23.3, respectively. Here are some specific comments on the problems.

We would like to thank all participants, both teachers and students. We hope that the papers provided you with some interesting mathematics to think about and play with. Thank you for your support! Please continue to encourage your colleagues and fellow students to become involved in our activities.

Fryer Contest

1. Average: 8.0

Students struggled with interpreting this question. Some students thought it meant ...sprint - sprint - rest - sprint - sprint - rest..., while others thought it meant ...sprint - rest - sprint - rest.... We accepted either interpretation. We also saw students add a rest before and/or after sprinting. For these, we carried through the mistake into parts (b) and (c). Students often thought they could divide the number of laps by two (getting 12 for Monday and 10 for Tuesday) to determine the number of rests. Some assumed the number of rests equals the number of laps. Some students struggled with the speed, distance, time relationship.

2. Average: 6.8

Parts (a), (b) and (c) were well done. For part (b), we saw a common incorrect answer of 12. Students with this solution often considered  $\sqrt{145}$  and then rounded down, rather than rounding up. In part (c), a common mistake was determining that 1598 was in the 40th row, but then saying it is in the 38th position, forgetting that 1598 and 1600 are consecutive in their row. Most students who attempted part (d) were successful in finding  $r = 16$ . Most students solved this as we did in Solution 2; however, we also saw many solutions like Solution 1. Some students used guess and check and then wrote out the entries in row 16 and confirmed the average is indeed 241.

3. Average: 3.5

Part (a) was fairly well done. Parts (b) and (c) were challenging for many students. For part (b), most students realized that  $A$  must be even or  $B \neq 3, 6, 9$ , but it was implicit in their work and not explicitly stated. Many students were able to find some of the different pairs that were possible. Some students did not consider that  $A$  and  $B$  are non-zero digits. For part (c), the students who attempted the problem and made some progress usually found that  $C = 5$  and that  $A$  is even.

4. Average: 2.3

Part (a) was fairly well done. An answer of 25 was a common incorrect answer. Students who gave this answer often counted the odd-numbered computers but included  $n = 1$ . Students who gave this answer with work earned 1 mark. Part (b) was also fairly well done. We saw many different correct solutions to this problem. Most students solved this as we did in our solution; however, in the different parity case, we often saw solutions where the students used two other computers, another even-numbered computer and another odd-numbered computer, to create a path of length 3 that only used blue cords. Another common solution we saw was that connecting computer 1 to computer 2, computer 2 to computer 3, computer 3 to computer 4, and so on, to create a path of only blue cords that connects all computers. Part (c) was challenging and many students did not know where to begin. Many students continued working with parity, which was not relevant to this part of the question. We also saw many students assume all red cords were replaced with one of the colours and all blue cords were replaced with the other colour.

Galois Contest

1. Average: 7.5

This question was generally well done. The most common error was in part (c) where students misinterpreted what  $s$  and  $t$  represent.

2. Average: 7.0

Overall, this question was well done. In part (c), some students noticed the pattern in the sequence but made an error when determining which terms satisfied the given condition. In part (d), many students were able to identify some possible values of  $n$  using trial and error or by working backwards from 18. It was common for students to find some but not all possible values of  $n$  or provide the correct list of possible values of  $n$  without clear justification of this list.

3. Average: 5.9

Parts (a), (b) and (c) were well done for the most part. In part (d), many students identified the relationship between the area of the first triangle and the area of the twelfth triangle or between the first value of  $x$  and the twelfth value of  $x$  but had an “off by one” error resulting in an incorrect final answer or provided insufficient justification of the relationship.

4. Average: 2.4

Most students found this to be a challenging problem. A fair number correctly calculated the correct number of handshakes in part (a), with some giving an answer of 8, which resulted from double counting the handshakes. Some students gave a correct argument in part (b) by identifying that  $9 \times 3$  is odd. It was common for students to claim that the situation was not possible because the number 9 was too small or not a multiple of 4, but neither of these arguments work since, for example, 6 people can each shake hands with exactly 3 people. In part (c), there was a small group of students that correctly deduced that 9 was the minimum value and gave a set of handshakes that corresponded to this situation; it was rare to see a justification that this set satisfied the necessary condition and very few provided a complete explanation of why the condition cannot be met with fewer than 9 handshakes.

Hypatia Contest

1. Average: 8.6

Part (a) was well done. A common error in part (b) was to find  $x = 4$  by solving  $5x + 2(2x) = 36$ , but then forget to report the total number of throws. In part (c), justification of the four ordered pairs was necessary to earn full marks. In part (d), most students correctly concluded that the score of 182 was impossible, but some missed a proper justification of why. For example, it was not enough to just note that 182 is neither divisible by 6 nor 21. For example,  $33 = 6(2) + 21(1)$  even though 33 is neither divisible by 6 nor 21.

2. Average: 7.4

This question was well done. A common error was making assumptions about the diagram -- for example the ratio of  $BF : FC$ .

3. Average: 6.3

Parts (a) and (b) were well done. In part (c), many students found  $c = 8$ ,  $d = 4$  but didn't justify why no other solution is possible. This was also a common reason for mark deductions in part (d). In addition, many students included  $mn97$  in the sum with its six cousins. It was important to write the sum out in base 10 (or to consider the ones digit).

4. Average: 1.0

In part (a), a common incorrect answer was  $\frac{4}{729}$ , which does not account for the ordering of the numbers. In addition, some students incorrectly treated 1 as a prime number. In parts (b) and (c), many students had some correct reasoning but missed important nuances. For example, in (b) a common numerator was  $1 \times 8 \times 8 \times 8$ . This allows for the presence of a five but ignores the possibility of repeated fives, and ordering.

Commentaires généraux

Les concours de FGH ont été créés pour donner aux étudiants de 9e, 10e et 11e année (sec. III, IV et V) un défi mathématique supplémentaire pendant l'année scolaire qui exige des solutions écrites complètes. Être capable de faire des mathématiques est une aptitude importante. Pouvoir communiquer ses conclusions (en mathématiques ou autres domaines) est aussi très important.

Cette année, les moyennes des concours Fryer, Galois et Hypatie étaient de 20,6, 22,8 et 23,3 respectivement. Voici quelques commentaires spécifiques sur les problèmes de ces examens.

Nous aimerions remercier tous les participants incluant les enseignants et les étudiants. Nous espérons que ces concours ont fourni des mathématiques intéressantes qui vous ont amusés et poussés à réfléchir. Merci pour votre soutien continué!
